

LOWELLIAN 1976

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and comfortably in their own homes, and to participate in the community. The strategy also sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care services available to older people, and to ensure that older people are able to access the services they need. The strategy is a key document in the development of policies and services for older people in the UK.

Swing Into Life

SPORTS

The Varsity Football Team, supervised by Mr. Frank O'Shea, had a commonly averaged year. The team once again started off with four works of excitement and winning scores but ended with somewhat of a fizzle. The Invincible No. 22 led the team and the conference in scoring and rushing as he and Kim Hales became perennial members of the All Conference Football Team. Homecoming brought excitement to the old Alma Mater as the Devils bombed the Griffith Panthers off the turf and the fananas went bananas. Next years head coaching position was left open to many seekers due to the resignation of Frank O'Shea. The many returning lettermen have already begun to equate a winning combination for next year's team.

Frosh—J.V. Show Potential

The J.V. football team, under the direction of Coach Dermody, had another good year. Again they were plagued by a weak following from the student body. The team has had many outstanding members who Coach Dermody says will be a definite asset to next year's varsity team. The Freshman team, coached by Mr. Woodrow and Mr. Skvara, had an outstanding year. Reports say that it was the best year the team has had in some time. As with the J.V. team, it lacks fans, but plays to its potential. Lowell High School should be able to look forward to winning teams in the future.

Tennis Anyone

With a 2-12 season, the tennis team this year was not very successful. However, with this record, the youth of the team must be taken into consideration. Coach Shaler was very content with his team, as it improved considerably as the season progressed. The team did fairly well in the Sectional and Conference meets, although only a few members placed. Next year with its youth and experience, the team should improve greatly on its record.

1. Mark Zakula gets down to serious business when he is running. 2. Coach Thomas seems to be looking at something disgusting—Steve Frahm's time.

A successful cross country team demands running—up to forty miles a week. You have to set a goal each day and attempt to reach or better it. You must have the desire to win every race you enter. You must put forth every ounce of energy as an individual performer in order to improve the team effort. You must have confidence in the coach and team-mates. Coach Bob Thomas described the year as a definite success and says his boys possess these qualities. The team had an excellent dual record and finished with a close second at the North Newton Invitational, the most important of the season. A new summer running program was adopted by the team, and Coach Thomas felt its success was due to this. Six of the seven varsity runners are seniors and the team will be on the lookout for underclassmen to take their places.

Cross Country

Under the direction of their new coach, Miss Ayers, the volleyball team faired well this year. Though the teams had struggles under their new first-year coach, both teams finished with nearly a .500 season. Excitement mounted as the season progressed. The team provide the sparse crowd with minute-by-minute excitement. Though the A-Team will be losing two of its senior members, Judy Huke and Jill Snyder, it is looking forward to another fine season.

Lowell High School's optimistic swimmers began their 1975-76 season somewhat disastrously in the form of four opening losses. The Devilfish made some waves against Hammond Tech and Lew Wallace. Coach Coghill and the boys practiced from early fall to the end of February working hard on such things as stroke improvement, team relays and diving. Tom Beeching was the team's outstanding swimmer. Ranked to win a chance at state competition, he was taken seriously ill and was unable to compete. Many thanks should go to the Timerettes and to Mr. Beeching for announcing at the meets. Lowell High School should be proud of the hard work the Devilfish put forth.

Bend and stretch! Reach for the toes! The gymnastics team has had its woes. In actuality, the gymnastic team has had a good year. The girls received their new uniforms and sweatshirts, which boosted the girl's morale. The team has had to deal with the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat. Though all of the girls participated at first, some were unable to finish the season, due to personal injury. The team finished its season with sectionals, placing fourth out of eight participating teams.

The girl's Varsity basketball team ended second in sectionals with a 7-9 record, while the JV team finished with a 5-9 record. The teams did well considering the problems they encountered this year. During the season the teams, especially the Varsity, were plagued by a multitude of ankle and knee injuries, which restricted the teams' playing capacity. Half of the Varsity team will graduate this year; while the J.V. team, who started out with all new members, will lose no one. Under the coaching of Becky Ainsworth, the returning players can look forward to a good season.

Throughout a season, which many schools would have considered excellent, the Lowell Red Devil wrestling squad received continuous praise, applause and attention. The reason? They were great! At Lowell High wrestling is now coming out of the locker room, and the faculty and students are beginning to take notice of the growing sport. The highlight of the year was when the Grapplers captured the Semi-State wrestling Crown. The coach, Mr. James Hurst, was named Coach of the year. Coach Hurst, loved and admired by his boys, did an excellent job. Future wrestlers should look forward to being on this team.

The Lowell Devils had a good year and kept fans on their toes most of the time. The team seemed to work together and stay together with the coaching help of Mr. Bill Spencer. Although seven of the ten players were seniors, and supported most of the weight, underclassmen Smith, Wleklinski, and Bailey were tremendous assets to the team. The year went well and sectionals were upon our Devils. Fans mobbed the K.V. gymnasium as the Red Devils beat Hanover Central, and edged by K.V. The Devils played against the Hebron Hawks and finished in second place. The coach and the boys worked hard and earned every bit of praise they were given.

The Highlight of the season for Freshman Basketball was becoming Kankakee Valley Tourney Champs. Suffering with a small team the boys were overpowered the last games by much larger teams. Though the team had physical difficulties, they finished with a 6-10 season.

Panthers Are Declawed

Outsiders look at homecoming as a football game on Friday night, with a queen crowned during half-time, and a dance following ... but what really goes into homecoming? Homecoming begins weeks in advance when the clubs first start thinking about a float theme to tie in with the team we play. Long hours are spent decorating commons, stuffing floats and painting windows, all which go toward spirit points for the spirit stick at the end of the week. Students plan their wardrobe to fit each day whether it be a 50's attire or a flannel shirt and jeans. Tension builds as results from commons and window judging, queen finalists and daily dress-ups are tallied. Margo Kornmendi is crowned Homecoming Queen, and a tired but happy student body danced with Lowell High School alumni and fellow students and brought an end to a tiring, exciting but fun-filled week.

"If a Man Answers"

"If a Man Answers" was the Thespian's fall play this year. The story starts with a young girl whose personality was split by way of a mother who was very French and a father who was very Bostonian. Chantel meets Gene Wright, a model photographer. Without approval of her father, Chantel does some risqué modeling and marries Gene. Other models compete for Gene's attention and Chantel resorts to her mother's dog-training manual. The play was accompanied by humorous conflicts and in the end everyone is happy.

"A Touch of Class"

Hundreds of people this year turned out to see the 1975 Jr. Miss Pageant.

Sixteen girls participated in the annual event, which is sponsored by the Lowell Jaycees. All waited breathlessly as the winner was announced. Karen Jones became the 1975 Jr. Miss and was crowned by 1974 Jr. Miss, Gloria Schoon. Karen Jones also received the physical fitness award. Nancy Wierzba received the spirit of Jr. Miss, and the Talent award. Janet Proper received the Scholastic Award; Joan Coffman was first runner-up; Debbie Ganns was the second runner-up, and Kelly Boyles was third runner-up. Long hours of practice and hard work in preparation of the girl's enthusiasm make the 1975 Jr. Miss a magnificent success.

Doubles Minus One

The 1975-76 Lowell High girl's tennis team worked very hard this year. Coach Sue Skvara said, "We improved 100% over last year." It is a very exciting sport. We all worked together with hard drills to keep our strength up and challenged each other for the different positions. Even though we lost many matches, we kept our spirits up and looked forward to each up-coming match. We all had a lot of fun and wish the season could have been longer.

“Something” Successful

Something happened in late February. Ah yes, the “Sweetheart” dance, themed “Something”. Although the lateness of this annual turnabout has caused something to happen to its name, there seems to be no change in its success. The AFS has sponsored this “heart-throbbing” social event for the past four years and as always there are problems of scheduling, problems of getting people to decorate and most seriously is the problem of that other her getting to him before you do. Despite these problems there is always the satisfaction of showing off your new dress and having a good time “bopping” on the gym floor.

Oklahoma Big Success.

Lowell High's Little Theatre was the setting for the choir's successful musical OKLAHOMA on May 7 and 8. Fine performances were turned in by Kim Tutza, Laurey, Brian Snyder, Curley, Jeff Woolfolk, Jud Fry, and Rocky Killion, Carnes.

Despite the problems and conflicts which the cast had to face, it was able to perform before two full houses, making all the long weeks of practice worth while. If this year's musical was any indication of what the future will bring, the town of Lowell has much to look forward to.

1. So what if it doesn't exactly match what I'm wearing! 2. There ain't nothing like an Oklahoma Hello!!! 3. Is he going to pick her up and carry her or sing another song? 4. O-K-L-A-H-O-M-A Yeow!! If there's one

Imagine.

This years prom was the highlight of spring activities as May 15 brought Imagination to many couples. Shades of yellow and green were chosen as the juniors began planning. Although decorating and money posed a problem, the juniors kept right on working. Finally everything was ready. As the evening's eight o'clock drew near, beautiful ladies and gentlemen began arriving. Soon the After 4 Club was full of music and dancing couples. The Grand March commenced after much confusion and ended with the crowning of Ashton Roberts and Judy Huke as King and Queen. Then off to the American Legion for the Post Prom Party.

4. Destiny does their little thing. 5. Joel and Suzanne smile for the camera. 6. Prom Court, Chris Huseman, Randy Martin, Suzanne Stuhlmacher, Joel Ziegler, Judy Huke, Ashton Roberts, Margo Kormandy, Kim Hales. 7. Kim poses while Margo doeses.

CLUBS

"ROTC", as it is called by most Aerospace Education by name, is just that, education in aerospace. This club/class is sponsored by the Air force in order to produce a more informed student and citizen. The program extends over a four year per period, providing a mixture of science, social science and technical course work. Its activities range from the presentation of the flag at Varsity football games to helping the Junior Chamber of Commerce collect canned goods for the needs. Many "rotc" students also came to the rescue of those being flooded out this Spring.

R.O.T.C.

Art Guild— Colorful Club

With hands in glue, construction paper and evergreen trees, the Art Guild showered their over-abundance of talent around. They have designed all name cards and center pieces for the Fall, Winter, and Spring athletic banquets. They up and decorated the Christmas tree that was put in the South Commons. The club also prepared the displays in the Lowell Public Library and displays in the showcases at school. At the library the Spring display was designed for the bicentennial year. These artistic talents helped make the school and community a more colorful place.

Unbelievable as it may seem, the Devil's Tongue produced a bi-weekly paper for the first time in approximately four years. With the help of the Media and Publication class the staff learned the uncanny skills needed to put out a top notch paper. Though the number of staff members decreased through out the year, the quality of the paper was continually on the rise. In hopes to raise spirit, a free paper was given out on the day of the sectionals. The members of the staff have attended speeches given by the Hammond Times and the Advisor of the Indiana University Yearbook and Newspaper Staff. All of these have proved to be an enlightening experience enabling the staff to learn more about the production of a newspaper.

And the Band Played On

Under the unbelievable direction of Mr. Norman Aich the band had a profitable season attaining many firsts in numerous parades. Football season brought different experiences in the way of half-time shows, the annual chicken bar-b-que, marching contests and various activities. The rest of the year was filled with concerts, students attending district NISBOVA contest, with some students continuing on to state contest, and concert band contest. Students also participated in the pep band, which performed at basketball games and pep sessions and stage band, which went to a contest also. The band hopes to continue their activities this coming summer, attending several bicentennial parades in honor of our nation's 200th birthday. Improvement will be the main ingredient of the band for the future.

This year the Student Council has been hard at work. They sponsored a student to go to Colorado this summer in a leadership program, and helped plan a Donkey Basketball Game, so you could watch your friends made Q1k*3$%# =jd(fools) out of themselves. The Christmas Dance they conjured up turned the gym into a winter wonderland, and the "Kiss" contest they entered gave everyone a craving for candy bars. But, the Student Council wasn't all fun and games this year; they set-up Homecoming week, planned the activity for sectionals, and planned lunch sessions with Mr. Druckemiller so students could tell him their gripes. They also helped the Jaycees in their quest for canned goods at Christmas time.

Lights, Cameras, Action

The Light and Sound Club, under the direction of James Eminhizer, was greatly appreciated by the entire school. With their electrical and lighting skills they played major roles in the production of plays, Jr. Miss, NHS Induction, concerts and other activities. With many Upper classmen in the ranks, fresh new faces of the underclassmen will be sought next year.

The Office Education Association promotes and helps educate and prepare students for office work. Students learn to get along with other people in a working situation. Contests are held at the district, state, and national levels. Students and affiliate members of the O.E.A. can participate in these contests. Janet Proper, president, placed second in state and went on to the national contest. Other placings in state were; Leanne Tilton, 5th in dance division of the talent competition, Debbie Ganns, 5th in musical division of the talent competition. A bulletin board, worked on by Judy Szarmach and Kathy Heiser, Placed 4th. The O.E.A. also participated in a fruit sale along with other vocational groups.

Parlez Vour Frances?

The French Club has been involved in everything from French Festivals to bake sales. Every season they have a new activity. In the Fall they sold "Spook" insurance for all who wanted protection against those who enjoy soaping windows. For Winter they took a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry to see "Christmas Around the World," and afterward, had lunch at "Le Bordaut", a French restaurant in Chicago. Spring brought bake sales and an invitation to make pen-pals with a French writing club. This years club has enjoyed having fun learning.

Latin Club— Thespians

A trip to the Field Museum and a Greek restaurant were two of the activities of the Latin Club this year. Together with bake sales and raffles, the club raised enough money for these activities. The club hopes to prosper and grow in members in the coming years.

This theatrical season brought some interesting times. "If a Man Answers," the fall play, was a comedy that was unusually amusing. This year Thespians took the Christmas play, "Our Miss Brooks" and the "Christmas Carol" to the Lowell Middle School, as well as, offering a fine performance to the classes at the high school. The three 1-Acts were next with "Feathertop," and the "Cop and the Anthem," along with "The True Story of Robin-hood," which successfully drew the crowd and the laughter.

The Future Educators in Action, usually known as F.E.A., has been very busy this year. Along with the usual meetings, the club had its teachers' elves, the annual turkey raffle, Teachers' Basketball Game, Teachers' breakfast, and a float in the homecoming parade. F.E.A. participated in Education Week, Education Month, and the regional and state conferences. At these conferences one member was elected area vice-president, and another was nominated for Miss F.E.A. At the Teachers' breakfast the identities of the elves were discovered, and at Honors Night the F.E.A. Scholarship was presented to the outstanding senior member. An event filled program kept the "elves" one of the most active clubs in the school.

Home Ec Goes Bicentennial

The Home Ec Club this year once again had a commonly good year. The girls served as hostesses at the high school's open house and other events. Not only did they serve at open house, but they baked dozens of cookies for it as well. This year for money making projects the club sold bicentennial calendars and cookbooks. They also sponsored the Mother's Tea again which also had a bicentennial theme.

The Lowell Mat Maids, Timerettes, and Trackettes are all branches of the Pep Club. Besides cheering the boys on, the three organizations also keep score, time, slice oranges and make signs. The Trackettes also help in field events. Mat Maids assist Coach Hurst and Coach Cusic by taking coach notes. All organizations had a few new members to add interest.

Does Anybody still bother to take books home? and actually study anymore? If grades are any indication, the ingenious group of students who make up the National Honor Society do. This year NHS activities included bake-sales, and open house guides. The yearly induction ceremony for new members was held on Tuesday evening, April 13th in the Little theater. Vica is probably one of the most active clubs in school, as it functions year round. A standard plea is heard "Can you do something for my car? It goes caphlomp" Vica to the rescue. In April members of the club attended the Regional Vica Skill Contest in Michigan City. Rod Gordon placed high enough in the written skill test, and he will be going to the state competition on Saturday, May 8th.

VICA And Industrial Ed.

The Spanish Club kept out of mischief this year with a variety of plans. During the Christmas season the club sold candy canes, went caroling and enjoyed a party afterwards. This year they raised money for two reasons: to go out to eat and to sponsor the I.U. Honor Program. The club had two semi-finalists: Margaret Bravos and Mary Searle. Mary finished as an alternate, and Margaret qualified and will be spending her summer in Mexico.

American Field Service

Mr. Lee Shaler, the club's sponsor, kept things moving with his jokes and wisecracks. Even though the A.F.S. is small in number, it gets a lot accomplished. In April the A.F.S. invited foreign exchange students from other schools in this area, to come down to Lowell and spend the week-end. Each student stayed at an A.F.S. student's home, and spent the week-end engaging in various activities, which included a baseball game, bike hike, and a party. Plans are being made to sponsor a foreign exchange student, for the following school year.

What Goes On Behind Closed Doors

The Choir is a thriving organization of golden-throated virtuosos. This is not the only talent they possess. The choir participated in many events this year. The float, which was in the Homecoming parade, whose theme was "The Panthers Sleep Tonight" took a second in the Clubs Division. The Choir held the annual Christmas Concert in the Little Theater. Hundreds came to hear the angelic voices. Soon the District Choral Festival rolled around. They drove to Brookston, IN., to participate. The musical, "Oklahoma," was a smashing success.

"A TRIBUTE TO Walt Disney"

May 6, 1976

This years gym show presented by the girls phys. ed classes paid tribute to Walt Disney, the king of Magic and imagination. With the help of the art department, many of the Disney characters came to life to thrill the many young people who attended the show. The girls worked on the routines for four weeks and spent many nights after school perfecting the show. The assets from the show are used for the girl's camping program and softball tournament in the Spring.

1. Spirited Frosh girls presented the jazz routine. 2. Mary Poppins, M. Berwick, floats gently to the ground by using her magic umbrella. 3.

Is that Alice, alias L. Husiar, we see in Wonderland? 4. Minny Mouse mystifies a youngster with her mere presence.

A Tribute To Walt Disney

1. Terry Wicker does her routine to perfection. 2. The PE Assistants seem to be following their leader, Pooh. 3. The mousketeers perform a tumbling routine. 4. Tiger, of Pooh fame, walks out to greet his awaiting fans.

5. An elephant zooms into focus. 6. Bugs Bunny and Donald Duck greet the admiring audience. 8. Six girls present their world famous flag routine. 7. Donald Duck receives a loving pat from a very young admirer.

What to do

You take a messy area above the English resource center, turn the wacky teenagers into croopers, lay-outers, photographers, and copiers. You take your normal average adult and turn him into a crazy sponsor.

At one time or another in our lives, each of us must leave a place and temporarily end relationships and work and replace them with memories. For many of us seniors graduation is an end of a tremendous part of our lives, never to be relived again with anything but memories. The end it may be, but in reality it is only the beginning to the greatest and largest part of our lives ahead. As the seniors leave, each student and member of the faculty changes in some way. Many are saddened by the departing of their senior friends as they have given a part of themselves to each one. The juniors must now step forward and take over the reins of school activities acting as officers and new leaders of the student body. The sophomores and freshmen each take one step up on the ladder and strive to prepare themselves to take the lead in future years. We mustn't take the departure of the seniors as the end, for it is only the beginning. We mustn't say good-bye, but see you soon. Each of us are constantly striving to better ourselves in some way and we must move on to do so. We must leave with happy thoughts and smiles of the memories of all that gave passed. See you soon.
